Ref: Notice of corrupt activities discovered by government agents, some of which are linked to the aviation catastrophes of September 11, 2001.

To Senator Clinton:

I am a former federal air safety agent who, with the additional input from several dozen other government agents, discovered and documented major federal offenses in key government offices. All of these offenses continue to inflict great harm upon major national interests, including national security. Included among the harm resulting from the documented misconduct were the conditions that insured the success of the 19 hijackers on September 11, 2001. Because your constituents in New York were more particularly affected by these crimes, I am putting you on notice of their existence.

The following are highlights of my background and credentials, the misconduct that we discovered, the pattern of cover-ups, and some of the deadly consequences:

- I have over 60 years experience¹ in the aviation field, including a number of years as a federal air safety inspector. In that position the government assigned me the task to correct the conditions causing the worst series of aviation crashes in the nation's history. One of those crashes, which was the worlds worst at that time, occurred in New York City about one mile from where the World Trade Center was later built. That was a DC-8 that crashed into Brooklyn. The same deep-seated corruption within the FAA² that resulted in that crash was the same type of corruption that created the conditions that insured the success of the 19 hijackers on September 11, 2001 (and 40 years of prior fatal hijackings and other air disasters caused by known unsafe and illegal conditions.
- Every attempt³ by me to report these crimes was blocked by people in key government positions,

1 World War II Navy Patrol Plane Commander; international airline captain for many years after World War II; Federal Aviation Administration air safety inspector, given the assignment to correct the conditions resulting in the worse series of airline crashes in the nation's history; author of numerous books on aviation and misconduct in government offices; guest and expert on over 3,000 radio and television shows since 1978; confidant to dozens of government agents seeking to expose high crimes in covert government operations and by people acting under cover of government offices.

2 Documented misconduct in FAA positions included deep-seated pattern of destruction of official reports of major air safety problems and violations; warnings to inspectors not to file such reports; retaliation to inspectors who attempt to carry out their federal air safety responsibilities; FAA management blocking corrective actions on crash-related safety problems and safety violations, and felonies blocking the government from carrying out its air safety responsibilities.

3 Attempts to report the crash-related misconduct in the FAA included (a) reports to high FAA officials; (b) reports to NTSB political board members; (c) reports to FBI and other Justice Department personnel; (d) report to federal grand jury at Denver; (e) reports to members of Congress; (f) filing federal actions seeking to report the federal offenses under the federal crime including within the FAA, the NTSB, Justice Department, and members of Congress (who admitted the gravity of the crimes but falsely claimed the matters were not in their area of responsibilities).

- After being blocked from carrying out the government's air safety responsibilities by people holding key positions in the executive and congressional branches of government, I exercised the requirement and the right under federal statutes to address these serious matters in federal courts.
- The federal crime reporting statute (Title 18 U.S.C. § 4)⁴ requires a federal judge to receive information and evidence of federal crimes under the judge's administrative duties. Title 28 U.S.C. § 1361⁵ requires a federal judge to provide a federal court forum to any citizen seeking a court order to force a federal official to perform a legally required duty and to halt his or her unlawful conduct.
- In my first two attempts to report these matters to federal courts, federal district and appellate judges admitted the seriousness of these charges but refused to act on the argument that it was up to members of Congress to take action. (The law clearly showed that both groups had a responsibility.) The refusal to act caused the federal offenses to continue, along with the expected deadly consequences in preventable air tragedies and further harm to national security. These consequences included 40 years of deadly hijackings, with the latest and most publicized of the subsequent tragedies being the 3,000 deaths on September 11, 2001, as 19 hijackers were able to hijack four separate airliners. (The current cover-up places the entire blame for the success of the 19 hijackers on "intelligence failures," thereby blocking the exposure of the true causes for the success of the terrorists.)
- Seeking to circumvent the massive obstruction of justice in the three branches of government, I used my $10 million in real estate assets to fund my attempts to inform the public and to motivate enough people to show some signs of courage, integrity, and patriotism, and in that way force people in government positions to address the criminal activities that were inflicting great harm upon America and its people. I published books, appeared as guest and expert on over 3,000 radio and television shows, gave lectures, seeking to circumvent the cover-ups in the executive, congressional and judicial branches of government.
- As my activist activities gained national publicity, dozens of other government agents provided me with information and documentation on criminal activities⁶ implicating people in other government offices. I and my group of other government agents then attempted to report and provide evidence of these criminal activities to a federal court under the mandatory requirements of the federal crime reporting statute.
- My latest attempts to report these criminal activities to a federal court under the federal crime reporting statute have again been feloniously blocked, including by federal judges in your congressional district. I had submitted to the U.S. district court for the Southern District of New York a lawsuit about a month ago seeking to again report the federal crimes that played key roles in reporting statute (18 U.S.C. § 4) and under Title 28 U.S.C. § 1361; (g) publication of books to circumvent the endemic cover-ups in order to inform that segment of the public capable and willing to be informed, in an attempt to encourage them to show some semblance of patriotism.

4 Title 18 U.S.C. § 4. Misprision of felony. Whoever, having knowledge of the actual commission of a felony cognizable by a court of the United States, conceals and does not as soon as possible make known the same to some judge or other person in civil or military authority under the United States, shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than three years, or both.

5 Title 28 U.S.C. § 1361. Action to compel an officer of the United States to perform his duty. The district courts shall have original jurisdiction of any action in the nature of mandamus to compel an officer or employee of the United States or any agency thereof to perform a duty owed to the plaintiff.

6 Included in the many other areas of criminal activities discovered by government agents were drug smuggling into the United States by people acting under cover of government positions, widespread judicial corruption in the bankruptcy courts, covert activities that were criminal and subversive. More details in books that Stich wrote.

the events of September 11 (and a lawsuit in the U.S. district court in the District of Columbia). The action filed in the District of Columbia was promptly dismissed sua sponte, continuing the many years of judicial cover-ups combined with due process violations that assisted the obstruction of justice tactics. In the lawsuit submitted for filing in your New York district, federal judges have blocked the filing of the papers despite meeting all filing and payment requirements. In both of these instances, the federal judges were aware of the awesome price paid for continuing cover-ups—3,000 deaths from known dangers, known preventative actions that were necessary, and documented pattern of criminal activities in the FAA.

- Years ago when I first brought these matters to the attention of Senator Robert Kennedy, when I made him aware of the conditions that resulted in a major aviation disaster in Brooklyn, he promised to shortly look into the matter. However, he was killed before he could do so.
- You are now being put on notice. Will it be a continuation of the documented cover-ups? Will residents of your congressional district again be denied the right to have those whose corrupt activities inflicted such enormous human tragedies again escape justice!
- Although the success of the 19 hijackers and “intelligence failures” are receiving the primary attention (and cover-ups), there are other areas of documented corruption that continue to tragically affect the people, major U.S. interests, and national security constitute a greater threat and source of harm for the people than terrorism from outside interests.
- The response that I would suggest from you includes the following:
 - A meaningful response to this certified mailing.
 - A letter sent to chief judge Michael B. Murasey in the federal district court in New York City, demanding to know why my federal lawsuit was never filed.
 - Prompt assistance from you to enable these charges to be investigated by those who are not already implicated, such as Justice Department officials whose cover-up activities have been recorded and documented in judicial records. It is not in the nation’s interest to protect those whose direct or indirect involvement in the corrupt activities caused and permitted to be inflicted the events of September 11, 2001. Those one-day events were only the latest in the déjà vu consequences forewarned by former government agents.
 - Use the moral and legal responsibility arising from your congressional position to focus attention on the primary blame for the success of the 19 hijackers, which far surpasses “intelligence failures.”
 - Much of what I and a group of other government agents had discovered is detailed in a 4,000 page hearing transcript where I acted as an independent prosecutor; in copies of federal documents in my possession; details and documentation in the third print edition of Unfriendly Skies and E-book fourth edition; in the third and fourth editions of Defrauding America; the first and second editions of Drugging America; and at the following Internet sites:
 - <http://www.unfriendlyskies.com>.
 - <http://www.defraudingamerica.com>
- It is obviously not patriotic to protect those people holding positions of trust in government whose corrupt activities made possible the September 11 and other crimes against America. Continuing the history of cover-ups of these crimes insures the continuation of great harm to America. If the importance of your honest react is not evident to you, look at the pictures of the men and women plunging to their deaths from the World Trade Center. Surely you can help a 79 year-old activist to address the crimes that are destroying so many lives and the country itself!

Enclosed with this letter is the first page of the lawsuit I sought to file in the Southern District of New York, and a copy of a letter sent to U.S. district judge Murasey.

You can now aid and abet the corruption that I and my group of other government agents have documented, or you can break ranks and exercise some semblance of integrity and lawful conduct. Any member of Congress being told of the charges has a moral and legal responsibility to promptly contact me and provide help in exposing and acting on these matters. How you respond will be either baggage on your reputation or a bright spot on congressional responsibility that is sorely lacking in that government entity.

Sincerely,

Rodney Stich
